 COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.
 Saturday June 18, 1907.
 D. E. O'KEEFE.....EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

"I hold as much as any other man to the belief that no man should sunder what God hath joined together, but many a man and woman are joined by man and not by God, and these, I believe, are entitled to be parted by law. Continual disagreements are a proof that man and not God has joined a couple. I believe it to have been a case of real incompatibility." Thus speaks the minister who united in marriage W. E. Corey, the steel millionaire, who put aside his wife and the mother of his children to marry an actress. This preacher is a moral law unto himself as completely so as is Ruff the common law unto himself. Ruff can easily justify himself by saying that he only took money from the rich, and took it because they offered it to him—tempted him in the long hours of his great weakness.

The State Fair and the National Irrigation Congress will be held in Sacramento this year at the same time. It is proving that the fair is going to help the congress, as many will take advantage of the low rates to see California on display, and the congress is going to help the fair, since nearly all the enterprising communities and live firms in California will want to show the visitors and the people generally what they have. Both the fair and the congress, therefore, promise to be bigger and better than usual, and this being the case the two big meetings together will constitute a noted event in California's history.

The real estate men in convention at San Jose endorsed the Torrens system of establishing land titles. This system has been found to work in a most satisfactory manner in other cities and though it may be a little more expensive in the first instance it ultimately reduces the cost and simplifies the transfer of land titles.

WOODSIDE CHIPS

Miss Freda Meyer of San Francisco spent a couple of days with her folks in this place the first of the week.

Ja's Warren of San Francisco and his friend Mr. McKay were among the visitors to our burg last week.

Mr. and Mrs. McArthur of South City spent Sunday with the latter's folks, Mrs. C. S. Dalry.

The rain thought to late to benefit growing grain will prove of great benefit to orchard and berry men. If it continues a good deal of damage will result to the volunteer day which is already cut.

The dance, to-night, by the Redwood City Orchestra will no doubt draw a large crowd. They always furnish fine music and everybody is certain of a good time. Supper at Mrs. Willis's.

Woodside was represented at the picnic last Saturday and all reported splendid time.

Miss Helena Hanson and her friend Miss Emma Rye came over from San Gregorio Friday for a couple of days with the folks at Oak Hill Farm.

There is much building going on in Portola Park. This place is an ideal spot for home seekers and will soon be built up.

Wants His Property Back.

John Foley has commenced suit against his son Peter Foley and Catherine Foley his wife to set aside certain deeds to certain property on the Coast Side. He claims by the allegations of his complaint that he deeded the property to his son for the consideration of his support during the remainder of his life, and that the son has failed to comply with his agreement. The property is close to the new town of Balboa and is said to be very valuable owing to the advent of the proposed railroad. A legal battle will be waged in the Superior Court by both sides. The plaintiff is now ninety years old. He is represented in the action by J. J. Bullock and Peter Foley by H. W.

SUIT TO RECOVER MONEY

Henry C. Smith, executor of the last will and testament of James J. Gray, deceased, has commenced an action in the Superior Court against The German's Savings and Loan Company, and Amelia Summerton of San Francisco. The complaint alleges that Mr. Gray in his life time and on August 18th, 1906 deposited the sum of $2,000 in the bank. A demand has been made for the money by the executor but the bank refuses to pay over the money. Amelia Summerton sets up an adverse claim to the cash. The executor says she has absolutely no claim. The executor asks that the bank pay the money and that the other defendant show what claim she may have.

WORK WEAKENS THE KIDNEYS

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for the People Who Work in Redwood City.

Most Redwood people work every day in some strained, unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk, riding on jolting wagons or cars, doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs.

James E. Brown, contracting painter of No. 17 Capp street, San Francisco, says: "A man at my occupation required a good sound back. If that part of his anatomy is weak, lame or aches every move of the brush brings torture. Besides, the ingredients used in my calling act directly on the kidneys and aggravate those organs. The first box of Doan's Kidney Pills brought me such relief that I bought several more and continued the treatment until the trouble disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McIlburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's, and take no other.

Twilight Birthday Party

Never before had the little folk of Redwood witnessed such an odd birthday party as the one given last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Genocchio in honor of their youngest daughter's (Lila) ninth birthday. Between 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. five and one-half of the most enjoyable hours were spent in a beautiful and artistically decorated room. Many pretty greens and flowers were so well arranged that the room resembled a forest. From the center of the ceiling hung sixteen red streamers, red being the predominating color. These were softly draped and tied about four feet from the floor all around the room.

The children sang, recited, and played all sorts of games, for which several prizes were given. At 4:45 the room was vacated and prepared for the serving of refreshments. At 5 o'clock sharp each little girl was ushered into the room, which had been darkened and then illuminated by many tiny candles being placed here and there among the greens and flowers. In her hand each little one carried a small red candle and was told to wander through the forest in search of her card, which had been placed on a pretty-decorated table. How these little ones watched the burning of the candles! Not until every candle ceased burning did they leave the table. Then came the cutting of the cake and each parted with a piece.

Among those invited to enjoy the pleasant afternoon were Marie McCalliffe, Norma Lombardini, Helen Moore, Adelaide Butts, Evelyn Stinger, Viola Genocchio, Remo Bicalagapi, Jenette Devorn, Margaret Muller, Hazel Lamb, Margaret Pfirang, Dorothy Turner, Lena Bicalagapi, Mae Bacchus and Lena Macchi.

INDIAN JIM IS DEAD.

All the older residents of the valley know "Indian Jim," who for "to these many years." He was found dead on Ninth street in San Jose Monday afternoon. He was a full-blooded Indian and was supposed to be about 85 years old. Jim used to live in Mayfield, or at least to make that place a point of return from his wanderings. Like most Indians, Jim liked the flowing bowl, but he was always harmless. He always carried a manzanita cane, which was adorned with relics, some of which he claimed were given him by Vasquez, the noted outlaw—Palo Alto Times.

Jim has been reported dead so often that we are loath to give credence to the above account. He attended the Parish Picnic last Saturday dressed in Indian garb, creating no end of amusement by war dancing.

The ceremony took place at noon, a nuptial mass being celebrated. Rev. Father Harrington was the officiating priest. The church had been beautifully decorated, the artistic interior being made attractive with palms and quantities of all white lilies. The bride who was given away by her uncle, Dr. W. L. Adams, was charming in a princess gown of Brussels and point applique lace made in train, over white silk and chiffon. She wore a long tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of white orchids. The matron of honor, Mrs. Marshall Wotkins (formerly Miss Edith Redding), and the bridesmaids, Miss Jane Dudley, Miss Dorothea Coon, Miss Edith Metcalf, Miss Natalie Blauvelt, Miss Ruth Paxton and Miss Amy Bassett, were gowned alike in white chiffon cloth and lace and wore arg white hats, trimmed with white plumes. Instead of bouquets they carried each a tall staff, crowned with white blossoms. Little Misses Grace Dudley and Kathleen Redding were the flower girls and were gowned in white point despit. The bride's mother, Mrs. A. Palmer Dudley, was gowned in white lace, and Mrs. W. J. Adams, her grandmother, wore black lace, heavily jeweled.

Emil Kehrlein was the best man. The ushers, N. C. Foot, George de Long, Ray Sullivan, A. Artiques, A. D. Swinerton and Charles Norris gave added picturesque to the scene, being dressed in white serge, with straw hats. After the service a reception was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Adams, at which 125 guests were present. It was originally planned that this should take place on the spacious lawn, but the state of the weather forbidding it was held within doors. The bride's table, which was in white and green, was in the dining room, and there the bridal party was seated. Mr. and Mrs. Kehrlein left on their wedding journey and on returning they will live at their newly completed cottage at Fair Oaks.

ELECTRIC SERVICE FROM SAN FRANCISCO ASSURED

The following editorial appeared in the San Francisco Call last Monday.

"Somebody has said that the best way to judge a city's wealth is by its suburbs. If that be so, San Francisco, already envied by rural and semirural settlements numerous and thrifty enough to make her justly proud, is soon to have evidence, and to spare, of her material prosperity. The traveler of the near future who approaches the metropolis off the Pacific from the south will find the peninsula from San Jose north almost a continuous line of splendid suburban groups of homes as beautiful in location and as artistic in conception and design as any on this continent. Quietly, but at the same time rapidly and steadily, a most significant development is going on all along the peninsula at whose extremity lies the mother city. It needs only realization of the promise that this section shall have easy, economical and rapid transportation to assure its future. The Southern Pacific—for it is the big corporation that, in reality, stands behind the Peninsular railway—makes the promise and the dirt if flying at a rate to warrant faith in the pledge that within a year or little more there will be a swift electric service all the way from here to San Jose. Its construction gangs are pushing ahead at a surprising pace the lines running northward from San Jose, opening up to the home seeker a country not to be surpassed for its quiet beauty, mild and even climate and little soil.

A few years ago it was only the millionaire who could afford to own home in the country. The luxury of residence for a city man down among the oaks of San Mateo and Santa Clara was for the Ralstones, the Howards, the Sharons, the Eyses, the Haywards and the Floods. The suggestion that the man of moderate means could ever afford to have a country home would have been regarded as absurd. Only a Ralston could afford to have relays of horses from his country place at Belmont to reach the city in time for the opening of business. But the trolley car has changed all that; it has made an end of city congestion for the moderately well to do; it has brought the city to the country and the country to the city, has substituted orchards and gardens for planked back yards and has flung the actual city limits of San Francisco across two neighboring counties.

"And the region to the south of San Francisco is marvelously attractive to the home builder who wants room to breathe in, flowers and trees and spacious fields to gladden his soul when the day's work is done. Mile on mile of level or gently rolling land between the San Bruno hills and San Jose awaits the suburbanites. It is a noble country, almost any acre of it is fit for a park. The soil is deep, rich and well watered. The trees upon it are many and of a generous growth. From the bay to the hills it is a prospect to fill the eye and rejoice the heart of the landscape gardener. It is not difficult to see why every parceling out of big holdings in this territory has been awarded by throngs of eager purchasers buying to keep and build rather than to sell when the price advances.

"In the development of the peninsula it should not be forgotten that the making of the larger railroad plans is bound to have a strong stimulative effect. The location of the Southern Pacific's enormous freight yards at Visitation means the early establishment there of a prosperous town, the chief element of whose population will be a large number of well paid men in the company's employ, men of the most desirable class as builders of community. Also, at or near the western approach of the great Dumbarton bridge there will be another settlement of material consequence in the growth of the peninsular adjunct of San Francisco.

The funeral took place from the late residence Tuesday morning at 9:45 thence to the Church of the Nativity where a solemn requiem mass was celebrated for the repose of her soul. The interment took place at Holy Cross cemetery where the remains were laid to rest beside those of her late husband. The floral offerings were many and beautiful and bespoke the love and affection in which she was held by her neighbors.

Suit to Recover Furniture

Frances A. Martin has brought a suit in the Superior Court against H. D. Martin and other defendants. H. D. Martin and Joseph T. Burns, two of the defendants reside in San Mateo. Plaintiff alleges that she is the owner of certain personal property consigned principally of furniture. It was through the agency of Delmas Martin the former wife of H. D. Martin, transferred to the San Jose Transfer Company. Later on it was taken to San Francisco by Burns who says he has a lien on the property for storage. The plaintiff asks judgment for $2000, the value of the furniture and damages in the sum of $1000.

Rice Begins Suit

The suit brought by George H. Rice against the Selma Fruit Company some time ago was decided in favor of plaintiff last Thursday by Judge Buck. Mr. Rice was given judgment for $500 and costs of suit. An agreement was entered into on March 14, 1906, whereby the 'Whites Lot' property at Selma was bought by the Fruit Company. It retained the sum of $500 of the purchase price to perfect the title to the property. It agreed to proceed with due diligence to bring the necessary suit to quiet title. The Company has failed to perform this part of the contract, though it has often been requested to do so. The return of the $500 was also requested but it was not forthcoming. The plaintiff asked besides the $500, interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum from March 14th, and costs of suit.

The attention of all persons who inhabit or frequent the forested areas of California is called to the following abstracts of the forest laws. Statutes 1907, ch. 536, makes it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than five hundred dollars to commit any of the following acts:

1. To set fire, or cause or procure fire to be set to any material being or growing on lands not the property of the person who sets such fire without the permission of the owner of the land, except that camp fires may be built on unclosed lands if the owner has not forbidden such building in any way and, provided the builder totally extinguishes the fire before leaving it.

A comparison of these records shows San Mateo has much less tardiness, a little less total absence and a larger number of girls in attendance. Their entering class last year was considerably larger than ours. In other particulars Redwood is still ahead. Three pupils from this district attended their school last year, and a like number from their district attended this school.

While our high school includes eight districts, the San Mateo school includes but three; yet more pupils were last year graduated from their grammar schools than from our, and, naturally, their entering class was larger than ours.

Both schools will employ the same number of teachers next year. They employ a special teacher of drawing, and this school will employ a special teacher of vocal music. San Mateo, the present year, gave instruction in zoology, drawing and stenography, which were not covered by our courses. Next year we shall include the drawing in our work and resume instruction in stenography.

It will be interesting to make a like comparison next year, about this time. We need to bestir ourselves if we do not mean to be passed in size by our rapidly-growing neighbor.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

GIVEN POPULAR PRIEST ON EVE OF DEPARTURE

The church hall was the scene of a gay party on Tuesday evening last, when a farewell reception was given to Father Sullivan on the eve of his departure for Redwood City where he accepts charge of the parish at that place. Father Sullivan has had charge of Half Moon Bay Parish as well as that of Pescadero for seven years, and during that time has endeared himself to all, through his courteous and many ways, and it is the best wishes of everyone, for a successful future for himself, that he carries with him from the coast side.

When he assumed charge of the Parish at Half Moon Bay, there were many objections to over come, the greatest being a heavy debt upon the church property, but he set to work and with that manly fortitude which has won for him so many friends overcame them all, and as he leaves today, the church is free of debt and the parish in good condition for his successor, Rev. Father Adriano of St. Peter's Church, Oakland.

During the course of his remarks Father Sullivan was deeply affected and thanked all for the hearty support given him and that he would always have pleasant memories of his charge at Half Moon Bay.

The evening was pleasantly passed by the large attendance who listened to an interesting program, at the conclusion of which refreshments were served. Dancing was then enjoyed for a couple of hours. Many little souvenirs of that evening will be cherished on the coast side of Father Sullivan wrote a pretty farewell upon the little wooden plates of all those who wished them, and he was certainly kept busy for some time. At midnight the affair was over, and many were the greetings and best wishes extended the departing priest by his many friends. The following is the program.
